Alpine President Named 'Entrepreneur of Year' Finalist

COMMERCE CITY, Colo. (May 13, 2010) – John Griffith, president of Alpine Waste & Recycling in Commerce City, Colo., is a finalist for the Ernst & Young Entrepreneur Of The Year[®] 2010 Award in the Rocky Mountain region.

The award recognizes entrepreneurs who demonstrate extraordinary success in the areas of innovation, financial performance and community involvement.

“When I started this business in 1999, I committed to the notion that the commercial waste disposal industry could benefit greatly from an emphasis on customer service,” Griffith said. “I think the results speak for themselves.”

Alpine has experienced a 46 percent compound annual revenue growth rate since its inception, with 31 percent growth in operating income during the most difficult period of the nation’s economic recession. Griffith was a consecutive-year nominee for ColoradoBiz Magazine’s “CEO of the Year” award in 2007 and 2008.

Griffith is one of 18 finalists for the Entrepreneur of the Year Award, and Ernst & Young will name six winners at its June 24 gala at the Grand Hyatt in Denver. Regional award winners are eligible for consideration for the Ernst & Young Entrepreneur of the Year national program. Local sponsors of the regional award include Faegre & Benson, Clifton Gunderson, Denver Business Journal and JohnstonWells Public Relations.

About Alpine Waste & Recycling

Alpine Waste & Recycling is the largest privately held commercial waste and recycling collection company in the Denver area. Founded in 1999 as a single-truck operation called Alpine Disposal, the company has parlayed a customer-service focus into a compound annual revenue growth rate of nearly 50 percent. With more than 40 trucks and more than 150 employees, Alpine hauls more than 120,000 tons of waste and recycle products per year. Featuring “Altogether Recycling™, Alpine is the first company in Colorado to process recycling material competitively on a single-stream basis. In early 2009, the Colorado Association for Recycling named Alpine the state’s most outstanding business for its recycling/diversion program. Alpine was named Colorado’s 2008 Top Company in the service category by ColoradoBiz Magazine; and Alpine has been named to the Inc. 5,000 list of the nation’s fastest growing companies for two consecutive years.
